Three types of services

VeebyA offers personalized assistance to meet the specific needs of individuals with reduced mobility by collaborating with three types of transportation providers: independent drivers, accessible taxis, and specialized transport companies.

This diversity of providers allows us to offer a tailored transportation solution that meets the unique needs of each VeebyA user. Users can choose the type of transportation and driver that best suits their needs and budget.

This flexibility enables VeebyA to cater to a wide range of requests, whether for one-time trips or regular transportation needs."

Trained drivers

VeebyA ensures to collaborate exclusively with drivers who have received training in the transportation of people with reduced mobility (TPMR), enabling them to provide tailored assistance to the specific needs of individuals with reduced mobility.

This training guarantees a high level of service quality and professional support for VeebyA users. As a result, users can travel with confidence, knowing they are in safe hands and receiving transportation services that are customized to their specific needs.
