The Box

Every Mezuzah is delivered with its own product box, made of recyclable cardboard – sustainable and classy. The box features a short text about Sheyn and the meaning of the Mezuzah on the sides. The back side includes two stickers, indicating the product name and the respective colour - providing all the information of the inside of the box without the need for opening it.

Made from Corn

Each of our Mezuzot is individually 3D printed using PLA, a sustainable, corn-starch-based material. This not only enhances their beauty but also makes them an eco-friendly choice.

Easy Montage

Every Mezuzah comes equipped with a double sided tape on the top and bottom end. You only need to pull off the foil and you are ready to fix it to your door frame.

Available in 14 different colours

We are a Vienna-based design studio that creates fully digital 3D printed designs for home. The word Sheyn, itself, means beautiful in Yiddish. It was created through cultural exchange and a longing for beauty – like all of our designs.

Why Sheyn?

- Designed by architects and 3D printed in our studio in Vienna.
- Made on-demand from sustainable and recyclable raw material (PLA).
- Zero waste production, individually made for you.
- Minimalism without being boring.
