About Our Company

Founded in 1972 by Giovanni Forzieri, Art-Moda began producing leather goods for British department stores. His two sons, Simone and Massimiliano, joined the company in 1990, collaborations with famous brands throughout the Florence area soon followed. A new line was also developed, which became the Post&Co brand, which grew rapidly and conquered international markets. Massimiliano oversees production, while Simone develops the collections and handles the commercial aspects.

Our Product

POST&CO brand, master of Tuscan craftsmanship, boasts a long tradition of sourcing high-quality materials, attention to detail and leatherworking. All belts are made from leather treated with special washes and embellished with hand stitching, laser micro-engraving and various types of studs to make our products modern and in line with the latest trends. Our most iconic belts are those made from crocodile leather, each one colored and finished by hand. Only the finest leathers are used to produce our products, ensuring that their high quality will satisfy even the most discerning eye. Every item is also strictly and proudly MADE IN ITALY.

Inspiration

Each collection is inspired by our surroundings.

We are fortunate to live and work in the beautiful Tuscan countryside, where nature and architecture are so rich in history and life. The colors of the summer fields and autumn harvests are our palette, and every weathered and damaged door becomes our backdrop. Antique door handles, in particular, are a source of inspiration for the finishes that bring everything together. The knowledge and experience of Italian Tuscan craftsmanship are present in every pore of the leather we work with. From full-grain cowhide to our special crocodile and python skins, we use highly skilled finishing techniques to ensure that each piece is luxuriously unique. There is a constant search for a unique and contemporary spirit through workmanship, cutouts, and even embroidery, with an ever-present vintage base to keep the soul of the brand alive.

New Features

Always attentive to new market trends, Post & Co has refined and expanded its catalogs season after season.

The collection has been revamped, with a contemporary twist that emphasizes elegance and simplicity.

A new feature in recent seasons is the creation of shoes to match belts; studs, the symbol of our work, are featured on both accessories to offer a trendy, total Post&Co look. Fine leathers and craftsmanship remain the foundation of our work, which is proudly perfected and strengthened season after season.

Our Future

POST & CO has always put customer satisfaction first, guaranteed by assistance at every stage of contact, from order dispatch to delivery of goods.

In the coming years, we hope to continue doing what we love: working with leather and creating beautiful belts and shoes. We are always open to collaborating with other leather wokres; we have the skills and knowledge to seek true beauty together.
