

The 1st AI platform that automates product data reliability for retailers and manufacturers

Decrease time-to-market and improve conversion rates by feeding your internal tools or marketplace feeds with clean and enriched data at scale.

Automate the grunt work of Product Data Integration and Enrichment (product classification, attribute enrichment) and free up time for your overworked teams to work more efficiently.

Scale data quality tasks internally or delegate it to Suppliers & Partners using external portals where third party can upload product catalogs and optimize them before handing them to the right users.

The different AI modules developed by Unifai allow to handle different use cases:

 Structured data: Structures catalogs to facilitate integration

 Cleaned data: Ensures data uniqueness and corrects errors and missing values

 Enriched data: Adds or completes the attributes of a catalog from a text or external data matching
