Accelerate gender balance by enhancing your leadership team's awareness

Do you want to accelerate gender balance in your organisation? Despite your many efforts, have you yet to achieve positive results or make sufficient gains on this issue? Do you have the impression that your progress has reached a plateau and your performance indicators have levelled off?

In order to properly undertake the issues at stake, leadership awareness is key. Between performance, compliance, attracting talent, market relevance and leadership, have you clearly defined your gender balance challenges? Does your ExCom feel sufficiently informed on the “why” and “how”, and does it have a clear role in the gender balance roadmap?

Mazars can support your leadership team in taking control of the issue, fully grasping the existing challenges and best practices, and becoming the driving force behind the roadmap.

During a half-day workshop, your team will be led by experienced Mazars partners who are experts in gender diversity and change management. Guided by collected data and individual interviews, we will place the leadership team at the centre of the gender diversity drive ensure real impact across the entire organisation. We will then support the ExCom in implementing its roadmap.
