F.A.Q

Which type of machine to choose: single or double bowl?

Depending on the size of your establishment/kitchen (your concept/idea), you make a choice. If you have very little space, it's best to opt for a single bowl. If you have enough space, it's better to opt for a double. The advantage of the double is that you can also deactivate a bowl and thus reduce your consumption.

Does the device consume a lot of energy?

No, each Sunny Pocket bowl consumes 530 watts. To compare, an incandescent bulb consumes 60 watts, a microwave oven 900 watts, a sandwich maker 1000 to 2000 watts, and a panini maker can quickly consume 3000 watts.

What is a maintenance contract?

The maintenance contract is valid for 3 years. In general, this means that the device will be replaced within 24 to 72 working hours of receipt of an e-mail to sav@sunnypocket.fr. Replacement and travel costs are included. In the event of intentional or negligent damage to the device, these costs will be invoiced. Full details can be found in the maintenance contract.

Is a maintenance contract mandatory?

No, but all costs are charged to the customer, it means repair and transport costs.

How long does delivery take?

After full payment and receipt of signed contracts, delivery takes between 1 and 3 weeks.

Can we get culinary advice or tips for using machine?

Yes, we can always support you with a demonstration and training in live or by video Facetime/Whatsapp, depending on location at the time of installation.

How many Sunny Pocket can be made per hour?

You can easily produce 60 to 80 pieces per hour in a Sunny Pocket "double bowl". It takes around 40 seconds to fill a circle with ingredients, 45 seconds to bake, and 5 seconds to remove, cut and present. If the circles are prepared in advance, the throughput is of course even higher.
